

Traveling Categories Game

The Traveling Categories Game is designed for answers to be specific examples for each category. However, there are a couple of tough ones - you'll recognize them by my lame answers. For example, a river beginning with the letter "I." So, if you want, just come up with some kind of general description, like "iced over." After all, it's your game; play it any way you want to.

Of course, you can do these simple games by just thinking up answers. But I have included a download version, in case you want a hard copy. On the second page of the download, you will find my answers. BTW, I've given a specific example for an "I" river, but I had to search for it!

Have fun!
